

An Introduction to British Pewter

by David Moulson and Alex Neish. ISBN: 1 85858 102 8

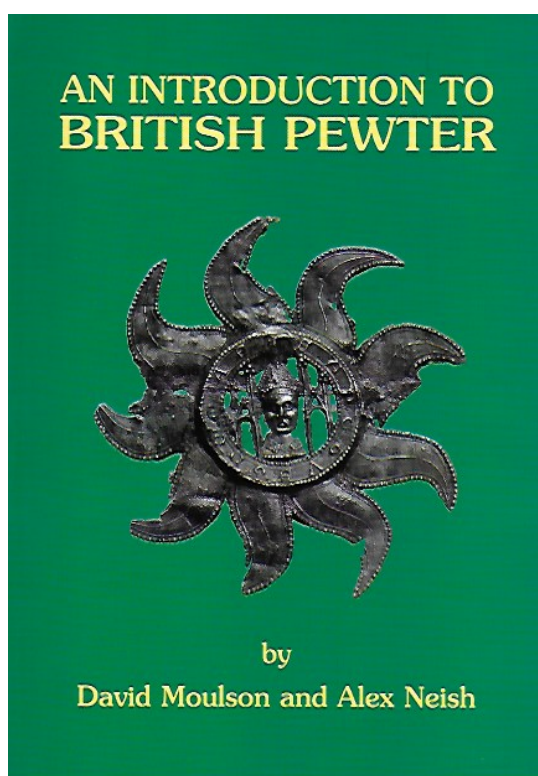

This is classic booklet (© The Shakespeare Birthday Trust) was first published in 1997 by Brewin Books. David and Alex are both now Liverymen of the Worshipful Company of Pewterers. In the Introduction, the authors comment that:

“The origins of pewter are lost in antiquity. The earliest known example of the metal to have survived is the flask-shaped, two-handled, lidded container found in an Egyptian grave at Abydos. Dated to between 1580 and 1350 BC, its alloy comprises 93% tin, 6% lead and 1% copper. Tin is always the major constituent of pewter. On its own the metal is relatively soft and difficult to cast, but the addition of small percentages of hardening agents like copper, lead, bismuth or antimony, overcomes this problem and adds durability.”

This little, lavishly-illustrated, booklet will take you though the ages of the metal, from Romano-British Pewter, through the Eighteenth and Nineteenth Centuries to Further Reading.
